Bill Ward

Storm. Luskentyre.

Incoming storm at Luskentyre. Long exposure. Rain. Harris. Outer Hebrides.

David Queenan - Highly Commended

Prestonhill Quarry

Golden birch trees catching the early morning sunlight, set against the dark backdrop of an old quarry in Fife. (1 of 3)

Graham Niven

Spindrift

Spindrift in Cairngorms Northern Corries. (2 of 3)

Richard Fox

Backwash

As the wind kicked up over Strathard, the fog suddenly spread up over Craigmore for a few seconds. (2 of 3)

David Hendry

Cir Mhor Arran

Cir Mhor & Castle Abhail in Arran taken in Infrared from summit of Being Tarsuinn. The South of Bute can be seen in the distance. (2 of 3)

Surf, Sand and Snow

Newburgh Beach (Aberdeenshire) after a good dump of snow.
The shoreline acting as a leading line to the lone figure in the distance. (2 of 3)

Castle Menzies in Snow

I went to photograph Castle Menzies (with permission); Typical for Scotland the weather was highly changeable - and I loved the atmospheric conditions when it snowed! (3 of 3)

Simon Dear - Winner

Torridon Gold

Taken from the Bealach na Gaoith, this rainbow literally settled over Loch Torridon for an hour, barely moving. When the clouds started settling on Beinn Alligin, I knew I was witnessing something special.

David McCord - Commended

Perfect Camp

I took this image at Loch Achray in the Trossachs. I arrived and the conditions were tremendous. With the Sunrise light breaking through and campers behind me snoring in their tents.

Charly Schleder - Commended

Loch Achtriochtan

Late afternoon at Loch Achtriochtan in Glencoe. Slopes and bushes were bathed in golden light by the low sun.

Tomas Frydrych - Commended

Cùl Mòr

Photographs do lie. This one was taken on a very windy spring day with persistent snow squalls. The wind was strong enough to require the tripod to be anchored down to a large stone, and the camera stayed under a cover for most the time.

Stuart Strachan - Runner Up

Storm Brendan

Storm Brendan rages against the Ballast Bank at Troon, this images was captured in the relative comfort of the doorway of the esplanade pavilion.
